

PRESS RELEASE

Worldwood UK signs MARINEDECK 2000[®] distribution agreement for the UK

With their signatures both Mr. Ronald van Buren of Worldwood b.v. and Mr. Cees H. Provily of STAZO marine equipment b.v. ratified their agreement for the distribution of MARINEDECK 2000[®] in the UK and Ireland. By ratifying the agreement Worldwood b.v. confirms to definitely look into “the green direction”.

“STAZO has proved to having developed an excellent natural substitute for ship decks of wood.” “Besides they have a reliable and world wide presence on the marine market as being a manufacturer of marine equipment since 1931”, Worldwood claims. Worldwood is one of the leading international timber traders in Europe, with specific timber for the yacht- and shipbuilding industry. They stock the largest teak supply in Europe that enables them to supply their boat building customers directly from stock. As from this moment on they also stock a sufficient supply of MARINEDECK 2000[®] planks and sheet. At customers request they even stock completely prefabricated decks by STAZO. The addition to the delivery program in the UK of MARINEDECK 2000[®], with its natural durability and comfort, is another logical step forward for Worldwood as being an active and appreciated partner for the boat building industry in the UK. Worldwood provides employment for over 40 people. The agreement also fits excellent into the current UK export strategy of STAZO.
